

Generational Trauma

March 31, 2025
12- 1:00 PM
Virtual via ZOOM

Facilitated by: CJ Morefield, LISW and Emily Quakenbush, LPC

Approved for 1 CEU for counselors, social workers, and marriage and family therapists

Trauma doesn't always exist in isolation.

Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACES) can be passed from generation to generation, and individuals can be impacted by trauma experienced by family members several generations before. In this training, participants will:

- Learn how trauma can be passed down generationally in families and how that can impact clients and treatment
- Be able to identify causes of generational trauma and the methods of transmission
- Increase understanding of the effects of generational trauma
- Learn strategies and interventions that can support clients in healing
